THE EVENING DISPATCH.
PROVO CITY. DEC. 29, 1894

Eyes carefully tested and glasses fitted with accuracy. Call and consult us now while we are here. It costs you nothing. Watery, aching eyes, or any discomfort or impaired vision has a cause. We shall remove the cause and restore comfort.
McKendry & Hannifan, Opticians. Prove House, one-half block south of Cosmopolitan Hotel.

THE boys of the Lolita club have concluded "to repeat the dose of Christmas night," and are already skimming mightily and intend to see that their dance of New Year's night lacks in nothing to make as grand a success as possible. Be sure you attend.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN LOWRY of Manti are visiting in Provo for a few days with their daughter and son-in-law, Dr. and Mrs. Allen. Mr. Lowry has been at Salt Lake as witness in the election court cases. He is a republican, but a reasonable one, and insists that when all connected with the discrepancies in and around the Sanpete returns is fully explained the public will learn and know that no wrong-doing, dishonesty nor fraud has been intended either by the judges of election or by the Utah commission.

COMMISSIONER DUDLEY is holding the preliminary hearing of the charge of fornication against Guy Madson of Springville, with Marie Houtz, also of Springville, with closed doors. If half the revolting particulars that are said to be connected with this case come out in the preliminary hearing, it is well that the doors are closed. Gossips say that foul disease has been spread by some of the parties connected, and that certain of their actions were such that swine would not stoop to.

Mrs. CYRUS SMITH, after twelve weeks of suffering, passed to her long rest this morning at 7:30 o'clock. Funeral will be held on Monday at 1 o'clock from the Third Ward schoolhouse. Friends are invited. The DISPATCH and its employees, of whom Mr. Smith was a friend, are extending condolences. He is a young and highly deserving man and to be thus robbed of his cherished wife is indeed a very sad blow.

DISPATCH readers will remember that some months ago Philip Speckart lost his cart and harness at the hands of some right thief, and no trace has since been found of their whereabouts. Yesterday afternoon at about 3 o'clock Mr. Speckart was at the bank corner on J street returning from the postoffice and going to his place of business. Looking up he was surprised to see his cart behind a horse and on that horse his harness being driven from the Co-op. corner west. He stopped the outfit. In the cart was seated Thomas Topham of York. Mr. Topham came by the cart and harness honestly enough. He purchased it from a man whom he had employed on his ranch last summer. The man got the outfit from a traveler, trading a very valuable saddle horse for it. Mr. Speckart is pleased indeed to get his property back and although Mr. Topham is the loser through this bunco game he is not sorry to part with property he has learned was stolen.

THE JUDGE'S MENTAL SPREE.

Lucid Indian and Detective Novels as Means of Mild Dissipation.

The sale of 5 cent novels, descriptive of the improbable adventures of Indian fighters or the superhuman sagacity and adventure of impossible detectives, is by no means confined to the small boys of New York. A reporter loitering in a Park row book exchange was surprised to observe one of the most eminent jurists of the day overhauling a pile of this trash. He had laid aside "Broken Plume's Last Shot," "Old Cap Collier Among the White Caps," "The Boy Magician in Madagascar," "The Young Nihilist" and "Frank and the Aztec Treasure."

"What are you going to do with that stuff, judge?" the reporter asked.

"Going to read it all. It is my way of going on a spree. When I get actually worn out and run down over the study of abstruse legal problems and reach that stage when I carry my professional labor into my dreams, I just knock off for a day or two, lay in a lot of this kind of rubbish, run down to my Long Island home and just lie back and revel in the absurdities of this class of literature. It requires no mental effort whatever to peruse them, and the amusement afforded is unbounded. I get clear away from the world of deeds, mortgages, bonds, partitions, trusts and other vexatious and simply allow my mind to go off on a little spree. No bad effects follow this mild form of dissipation. In fact, I am really rested by it. Try it yourself some time."

County Court.

Upon the re-convening of the county court yesterday afternoon, a petition from S. M. Duggins asking that the assessment of his property be equalized with that of his neighbors and that part of the tax assessment for 1894 and which he has paid be refunded was considered. The court found that this matter is entirely out of their jurisdiction, that the same should have been adjusted by the board of equalization. The petition was not granted.

A petition by Robert Till asking that his taxes be reduced and for other relief and was referred to Judge Dusenberry.

Nephi Otison asked that a certain road in Mapleton be discontinued, or that he be compensated for the road was referred to Selectman Deal.

The petition of Adams et al presented at last session, asking for a change on the school boundary line between Lake View and Provo Bench was referred to the county attorney for legal opinion.

O. F. Malmberg appeared and stated that Carl Borup's property in Santaquin had been assessed twice, that the taxes on the first assessment had been paid but that since that time the property had been sold for the taxes under the second assessment. Judge Dusenberry was authorized to release the sale, the same being a nullity.

The judge was also authorized to release the tax sale of Annie V. Christensen of Spanish Fork for the year 1893.

The reports of the selectmen and some road supervisors and other precinct and county officers for the last quarter were then read and filed.

A number of claims were allowed, including services for road supervisors, county selectmen, clerk and surveyor. Just county was credited with $30.49, account of transitory lands.

Court adjourned till Monday next.

Nineteenth Century.
The Nineteenth Century club met with Mrs. Bartow yesterday afternoon. In the absence of Mrs. Wegwood Miss Alice Kellogg was elected chairman.
Miss Josephine E. Kellogg read a very interesting and instructive paper on "France From the Dawn of its History to the capets."
The domestic news was presented by Mrs. Monahan and in connection therewith Mrs. Coray read a short article on the events that have occurred during the year of 1894.
The foreign news for the last two weeks was given by Miss Rose Moore. After recess and quotations, Miss Alice Kellogg reviewed the "Review of Reviews."
The following five minutes papers were listened to with much interest: "Froissart's Chronicles," Mrs. Rose. "Rabelais and La Fontaine," Miss P. Mouchie. "Montaigne," Mrs. Bonham.
After the critic's report the club adjourned to meet again with Mrs. Bartow.
